WHO COMPETETES? — Page 10

Competition is made up of both winning and losing. Athletic competition is not the only way students compete but "a person also competes in the classroom and with other people in school and out." By students, competition has been determined as being good because "it makes a person strive to do his best" in everything he undertakes.

WHO'S INVOLVED? — Page 78

Involvement is many things. In the opinion of one person it is being "inquisitive, sincere, and willing to work." Being involved to another person means becoming part of a group which is willing to work together toward a common goal. Everyone is involved in something whether it be sports, music, academic work or just playing the part of a spectator.

WHO'S BOSS? — Page 166

A boss is thought to be a person who exercises control or authority over someone or something. Everyone has one or more bosses whether it be parents, teachers, principals, friends or God. Each person "has opportunities to be his own boss" but a degree of self-discipline must be acquired.

WHO ADVERTISES? — Page 180

Advertising affects our everyday life. Everyone advertises in some form or fashion whether it be politicians, large department stores, small businesses, corporations or just individuals. Advertising provides valuable information concerning the many different products and businesses from which we are forced to select.

Who Competes?

"I think the people who compete the most are those who want to become more popular. That's okay but sometimes they try too hard and become what they really aren't like inside."
- Gina Powell '79.

"Everyone competes in one form or another at CHS."
- Steve Ball '78.

"The athletes compete in sports and students compete for better grades against each other."
- Jeff Burroughs '79.

"Students compete to be popular and make good grades besides athletic competition."
- Chip Thompson '77.

ROSS YORK

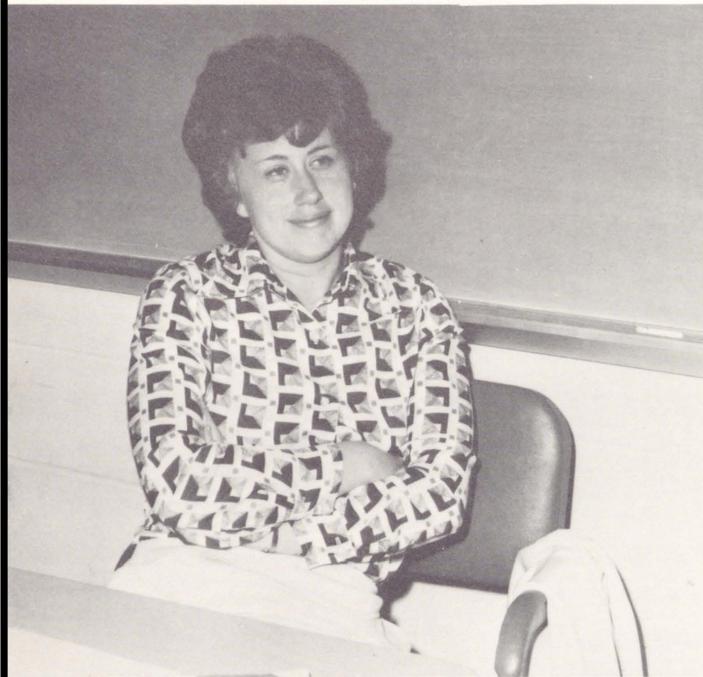

We have not lost our way at all, the roads of the past have come to an end and we have not yet discovered a path to the future. I think we will find one, but its direction may be unthinkable to us now. When it does appear, however, and we move on, the path must have direction, it must have purpose and the journey must be filled with a joy of anticipation, for the boy today, hating the world, creates a hateful world and then tries to destroy it and sometimes himself. We have succeeded in what our fathers prayed for and it is our success that is destroying us.

John Steinbeck

There are new features such as "Athlete of the Month" and the "Teacher Feature" as well as a special centerfold in each edition. Finally, the Hilight staff has endeavored to limit the amount of trivia in order to present material that is more relevant.

The first SOUTHERNER was the work of the 1953 Senior Class and the Journalism Class of CHS. Over the years, a definite style has developed in the SOUTHERNER. First, the book size increased. Then color was added. Always the faces changed. It is the purpose of the SOUTHERNER to provide a record of these changes. In doing so, the method evolves — each time growing, improving, and changing itself.

We appreciate the patience of both the student body and the faculty concerning taking pictures, retaking pictures, writing lists, completing surveys and disrupting class in general. We thank you for making this twenty-fifth edition possible.

Who's Boss?

"I think all teachers and administrators run CHS, but on the desires of the community."
Linda Campbell '77"

"CHS, in my opinion, is run mainly by the school board, including the superintendent. All of the important things at CHS have to go through them before they become official. The principal is a key figure also: however, the faculty has a small say. As far as the students, well . . ."
Jim Head '78"

"I feel that the boss at CHS is the student himself. If it weren't for the students, there would be no school. The school has to promote activities that please the student body."
Elane Fredrick '78"

Who Advertises?

"The stores which advertise are those offering the goods and services attractive to the consumer and, at the same time, possessing the quality of worth."

Tammy Fore '77"

"The people who advertise the most are grocery stores, car dealers, and department stores. The thing that appeals the most to me about these stores is the originality used in their ads."

Susan Fink '77"

" . . . anyone whose purpose is to get a point across, sell something, or merely catch the public interest."

In Memory

Micheal F. Binkowski

July 12, 1961 — April 27, 1976

"Mike radiated strength and confidence to all who knew him. His life enriched the lives of others in countless ways. His love for sports exemplified his strong character. His hustle, scrap, and keen desire to win led him to the greatest victory of all - eternal life."

- Mrs. Harold Binkowski

In Memory

Rhonda Priest

January 22, 1959 — March 12, 1976

In a tragic fire on March 12, 1976, the very fine oboe player, majorette and friend, Rhonda Priest, lost her life. We have shared many joys with Rhonda. A natural leader, she inspired us with her achievements in All-State Bands, in Solo and Ensemble playing, and as a Majorette during football season. Though each person's death diminishes us, we cherish her example and pledge to strengthen our efforts to become mature young people.

Final Song

It's time we were leaving
Not believing all we've seen
Some will come together
When the weather's lost its green
Illusions are shattered;
Still the pattern doesn't change.
New people stand before it.
Who ignore it are estranged .

It's time we were leaving
'Till the season's turning brown.
Another busy sun-time
With some old lives spinning 'round.
Once there were no worries
Of a flurry of my friends
Like snow that wind has beckoned
In all directions, without end.

It's time we were leaving -
No receding to the past.
Questioning the future
What to do or why to act.
What did once astound us
Now surrounds us, growing old.
It's our only chance, child;
We can dance wild or can fold.

- Alan Holmes ''77''
