Education should be a continuing thing, where one learns from experiences of life. Our school is, in reality, an arena where students are prepared for the contests to come in later life. Under the direction of skilled teachers, students are exposed to experiences which will furnish background for future decisions; they are given information which they can adopt to their particular needs; they are encouraged to develop skills and habits which will make them assets to their community.

It is our sincere hope that Hanceville School has become an integral part of you and that we have awakened in you a desire to learn throughout your life.
